

Press Release . 29th July 2016

New Zealand's PMP Limited is ManWinWin's client

PMP Limited, the largest commercial print company in New Zealand with an unparalleled network of printing and finishing resources, has chosen ManWinWin. The group acquired the software to centralize maintenance procedures, save costs and overcome challenges of the maintenance area.

With headquarters in Auckland, PMP Limited is a group of four divisions (PMP Print, PMP Distribution, Gordon & Gotch and PMP Maxum) providing highly specialized media services that offer fully-integrated supply chain solutions to print media, retail, SME's, real estate and publishing clients both nationally and internationally.

Before ManWinWin, the company had a maintenance system with information spread around several different locations, which made all internal procedures slower and costlier.

To overcome these challenges, PMP chose ManWinWin Software to manage its maintenance requests in several levels. On a first stage, a senior Navaltik Management consultant was designated to lead the implementation and configuration process, as the first priority was to standardize all maintenance practices in one single platform.

The staff was trained so that all users were capable of executing maintenance tasks solely through ManWinWin, from item registration to maintenance plans creation, work orders and reporting.

All the information was then centralized in one system, accessible to everyone from any connected device, which immediately saved time spent with unnecessary work updating and searching for information.

Hence, all maintenance requests stopped being executed through an internal manual form and started being handled automatically through ManWinWin, an improvement that drastically simplified the access to all the data, statistics and corrective maintenance history.

Stock maintenance also became simpler, as it was no longer mandatory to execute a systematic inventory, because all purchases and stock management were integrated with ManWinWin's procedures, saving time and money with unnecessary work.

Having PMP Limited as a new client represents another pivotal achievement in ManWinWin's international expansion, as it enlarges a heavy-weighted portfolio of clients that already includes references such as Essilor Australia, Dupont, Colquimica Polska, Ittihad Investment Group and Danone.
